To the friends of Temperance and the public generally we now make our appeal in behalf of this paper. The publisher feeling it a matter of importance to the interest of the Temperance cause in the District, as well as the general interest of the cause, and having been, as he conceives, Providentially placed in a situation at this time when he can mingle this interest with that of the business men, and thereby render a double service to the community, and still further open a medium of communication by which our principles may be extended far and wide, at a cheap rate. He has purchased a printing establishment, so as not only to be able to put a daily paper regularly to press, but also a weekly; and still further, be able to do any other printing the public may be pleased to have done; and he assures them that they shall have no cause of complaint. He has made arrangements by which he can devote his time to the interest of the office and the paper; and, having employed Mr. Charles W.
Fenton, who will be always on the spot, to conduct the printing, he has no doubt but that general satisfaction will be given. We shall make arrangements to have the earliest news; also the proceedings of Congress.

We wish all who are indebted for the paper up to this time to pay up, as the affairs of the tri-weekly must be closed. They will perceive that we are about to give them a better paper, double the number, at the same price.

While the "COLUMBIAN FOUNTAIN" will be devoted to the cause of Temperance, its columns will be enriched by original articles on subjects calculated to interest, instruct, and benefit its readers. It is intended so to blend variety, amusement, and instruction, as that the various tastes of its patrons may be (as far as it is practicable) gratified.
Commerce, Literature, and Science, and every other subject of interest, not inconsistent with Temperance and morality, will receive the earnest attention of the publishers.
Nothing of a sectarian, political, or personal character will be admitted.

A CARD.

THE subscriber begs leave to say to members of Congress and others, that he has several good rooms which he will let on accommodating terms, either furnished or unfurnished, located on the South side of Pennsylvania avenue, between 9th and 10th streets, and equidistant between the Capitol and the public offices. I have also two of the best cellars in the city, which I will rent in part or the whole, or receive goods on storage.
This is a good opportunity for butchers of market people.

JUST FROM THE MINT!!!

TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.
L. S. BECK & SON, would take this method of notifying the citizens of Washington and the adjacent counties of Maryland and Virginia, that they have commenced the house furnishing business in all its various branches, on Pennsylvania avenue, South side, between 9th and 10th streets, where they intend keeping a constant supply of new and second hand goods, and promise to sell on the most reasonable terms. We, therefore, solicit a call from our friends and the public generally, as we intend selling at a VERY SLIGHT PROFIT. We would enumerate in part the following: Ivory, Buck and Cocoa haddied knives and forks; White, Black and Brown handled do; Carvers, Forks and Steels; Shovels,

FALSE PRIDE--A CONVERSION.

BY L. A. GOBRIGHT.

It is not my purpose to endeavor to meet the objections which the cynic urges against the name of 'Odd Fellow,' as being apparently unmeaning, or unworthy to be recognised by men who pretend or claim respectability and some portion of common sense; for it has stood the test of years, and daily becomes entitled to a greater measure of respect. And one evidence of this is discernable in the truth, that the Order flags not in adding to its already large number, men not only of good morals and piety, but who hold in the community positions of influence and general esteem.
Weekly assemblages, for purposes of 'friendship,' to encourage 'love,' and to extend 'truth,' surrounded, as we are, by crime and discord, may well be designated Odd Fellowship; and here, in this particular, I am willing to rest the name, looking only, for the present, to the additional amount of good which may be accomplished by a cooperation, on the part of those often immediately interested, (viz: women and children,) with the principles on which alone success can rest.

Sometime ago a gentleman attached himself to one of the Lodges, notwithstanding attempts were made to dissuade him from doing so by those who professed to be his friends, and who knew nothing whatever of the work of the Order, to which their principal objections were confined. They viewed it (and it was merely in imagination) as unworthy of application to so pious a man, and one which would excite in his pure and childlike mind, feelings bordering on disgust. However, in justification, he pointed to many among its members attached to the church, of which he himself was a communicant, and who assuredly had not become worse by the fraternal fellowship. However, notwithstanding all proffered advice, he was initiated! Well pleased with what he had seen and felt, he applied for all his degrees, anxious to become complete in the mysteries. But some evil spirit had speedily counselled his wife, embittered her mind against the association, and gave occasion, for the first time, for unkind words and for reproof to her husband for what she conceived so injudicious a step. He, like another Socrates, bore the indiction with becoming dignity; and good natured and gentle as he was, endeavored to avert her threatening frown by returning to his home on the night of meeting, so soon as he could with propriety retire from the room. The consequence was that he did not, for a long time, advance beyond the initiation; and, being incomplete, he was not, by the rules and usages, entitled to the relief always awarded to the sick and distressed—in other words, a beneficial member.

"Why," said she, "have you joined the Odd Fellows?" at the close of the day, as he put on his coat and hat, and was advancing towards the door.

"Because," he replied, with calmness, "I know it is a good institution, and, in its operation, has conferred happiness on widows and children, who otherwise would, in all probability, have suffered for the necessaries of life. And I can point you to a case in our neighborhood. There was brother "Brother Gaines, I suppose you mean?" was the response. "A pretty brother, whose face is always smutty! One who used to beat his wife, and ill-treat his children—too lazy to work themselves, they join your Lodges, and pretend sickness, and thus draw the money deposited from the hard-earnings of honest men. A pretty Lodge! Brother Gaines!" and she indulged in a sardonic laugh, as if the emphasis had not sufficiently expressed her contempt for the poor neighbor.

"But," the husband replied, "we do not esteem a man less on account of his vocation."
"There it is again," she interrupted, "you Odd Fellows are always making excuses for your conduct."

"Yes, but remain silent, if you please, a moment. I said that we do not esteem a man less on account of his vocation—"

"Brother Gaines! Ha! ha! Go on!"
"It is with his moral conduct that we have to do," he continued.

"Pretty conduct, to beat his wife!"

"No matter what he did—does he do so now? And, prejudiced as you are, you must admit, that within the last two years, he has been a kind husband and an affectionate parent."

"But he's lazy, you can't, you can't deny it."

"I can."

"Why, Emily, 'truth' is one of our principles, combined with 'friendship,' and 'love,' and it is rather unkind in you to think for a moment that I would speak the reverse."

"I did not mean to say that you would tell an untruth, but that if you insisted that he was industrious, you would assert what I know to be otherwise."

"Listen! Brother Gaines—"

"There it is—brother again—"

"—was for a long time afflicted with rheumatism, and especially in his back and arms; and, although he was able to walk and to market, yet he was incapacitated to labor. His condition was made known to the Lodge, and the sick committee, among whom was a physician, called to see him, and ascertained that he was entitled to the weekly benefits."

"Weekly benefits! When a man has to pay for them! But go on."

"Well, he remained in a state approaching to helplessness for two months, and during that time the members visited him and cheered him in his despondency—thus literally fulfilling a command of Scripture."

"All this may be very good, but I don't like the bringing in of Scripture; it is something like mockery."

"His children, too, clustered around the poor man—"

"Yes, the dear little ones, whom he used to beat."

"And in the course of time looked as regularly for the visiting committee as though they were messengers sent from on high to bring glad tidings, and to cause them to rejoice."

"Yes, with their dirty faces—I can see them now. Ugh!"

"However, Emily, say what you will now, perhaps the time may come when you will not think so harshly of Odd Fellows.
Good night! It is time for me to go."

(To be concluded.)

EFFECTS OF EXECUTIONS UPON SPECTA-TORS.—Speaking of the execution of Moses Johnson which took place recently at Richmond, Va., the Richmond Whig says, "From what we have heard of this execution, we are more than ever convinced of the propriety of making these capital punishments private. Not a great number of spectators was admitted, but we understand that before the poor wretch was taken down from the gallows, among the convicts, who stood in the galleries of the building, as well as among the rabble who were looking through the front gate, some were seen talking and laughing in the most indecent manner."

Leather, Leather, Leather.

THE subscriber, Thos. G. Ford, returns his thanks to his friends and the consumers of Leather in general, for the liberal patronage he has received since he opened his Leather and Cur-rying store, on the corner of 7th and G streets.— He would respectfully inform them that he has now a full assortment of his own skin on hand, and which he can recommend as equal to any in the District, which will be sold on the most reasonable terms.

The stock consists of Sole Leather and Skirting, and very superior Calf Skins, upper and kips, Harness and Bridle, and bags' Leather, &c. All his Leather being tanned expressly for the establishment, he feels confident, with his practical knowledge of the business in all its branches, he can give general satisfaction.

Please call and see, before making purchases elsewhere. Hides bought, and Plastering Hair kept for sale.

fessor of Moral Science.
Rev. H. S. BAUGHER, A. M., Professor of Greek and Rhetoric.

Rev. M. JACOBS, A. M., Professor of Natural Philosophy, Chemistry, &c.
Rev. W. M. REYNOLDS, A. M., Professor of Latin, Mental Philosophy, &c.

M. L. STOKER, A. M., Professor of History and Principal of Preparatory Department.

Rev. C. A. HAY, A. M., Professor of German Language and Literature.

HERMAN HAUPT, A. M., Professor of Mathematics.
WM. HENRY HARRISON, A. B., Assistant Professor of Languages.

DAVID GILBERT, M. D., Lecturer on Anatomy and Physiology.

Rev. J. G. MORRIS, D. D., Lecturer on Zoology.
WM. ALBRIGHT, A. M., Tutor and Teacher in Preparatory Department.

H. R. GEIGER, Teacher of Writing.

The course of studies in Pennsylvania College is as extensive and substantial as that of any institution in the country. The Preparatory Department provides for instruction in all the branches of a thorough English business education, in addition to the Elements of the Mathematics and Classical Literature. The College course is arranged in the four classes usual in the institutions of this country.

The government of the students is a energetic as their circumstances seem to require. They attend at least two recitations a day, and the Faculty contemplate increasing them to three, Church and Bible Class on the Sabbath, and are visited in their rooms so frequently as to preclude the danger of any great irregularities. It is believed no institution in the United States has more exemplary young men in connexion with it. They are all required to lodge in the College edifice, special cases excepted.

The annual expenses are—for board, tuition and room rent, during the winter session $61 87 1-2; for the summer session, $41 87 1-2; washing, $10; wood, $3 00. Total expense, $116 75. Boarding can be had in town at $1 25 per week.

There are two vacations in the year, commene-ing on the third Thursdays of April and September; each of five weeks continuance.

The summer session will commence on Thursday, the 22d of May. The annual commencement takes place on the third Thursday in September.

The Trustees have recently made various arrangements which will increase the efficiency of the Institution. They have increased the number of Professors and provided for the most ample instruction of the students.

Professor Baugher and Haupt are prepared to board boys and to exercise a special supervision over their studies and deportment, and Parents who may prefer placing their sons under their care, will be secure in regard to their proper management, under arrangements such as pertain to the family circle.

The Merchants' Magazine and Commercial Review, embraces every subject connected with Commerce, Manufactures and Political Economy, as follows: Commercial Legislation; Commercial History and Geography; Mercantile Biography; Descriptive, Statistical and Historical Accounts, of the various commodities which form the subject of Mercantile transactions; Port Charges; Tariffs; Customs and Excise Regulations; Commercial Statistics of the United States and the different countries of the world, with which we have intercourse, including their Physical Character, Population, Productions, Exports, Imports, Seaports, Monies, Weights, Measures, Finance and Banking Associations, and Enterprises connected with Commerce, embracing Fisheries, Incorporated Companies, Railroads, Canals, Steamboats, Docks, Post Offices, &c.; Principles of Commerce, Finance and Banking, with Practical and Historical Details and Illustrations; Commercial Law, and Mercantile Law Reports and Decisions of Courts in the United States and Europe, including Insurance, Partnership, Principal and Agent, Bills of Exchange, Sale, Guaranty, Bankruptcy, Shipping and Navigation, &c., and whatever else shall tend to develop the resources of the country and the world, and illustrate the various topics bearing upon Commerce and Commercial Literature.

It has been, and will continue to be, the aim of the Editor and Proprietor of the Merchants' Magazine, to avoid everything of a party, political, or sectional bias or bearing, in the conduct of the work—opening its pages to the free and fair discussion of antagonistic doctrines connected with the great interests of Commerce, Agriculture, Manufactures and the Currency.

Complete sets of the Merchants' Magazine, embracing 12 semi-annual volumes, of about 600 large octavo pages each, bringing it down to June, 1844, inclusive, may be obtained at the Publisher's Office, 142 Fulton street, New York, at the subscription price.

Publishers of newspapers in the United States, by giving this advertisement two or three insertions and remitting Two Dollars to the Proprietor, will be entitled to the Magazine for one year.
